

Minute for Mission Sunday August 12

You all have been very patient with the pastor search process that we are undertaking. I have two more favors to ask of you all.

First, while we are happy for Pastor Nancy to bring her gifts to another church, we can also become a little anxious as to where that leaves us. I get it. I really do. The PNC has heard some speculations, and sometimes false statements surrounding “life after Nancy”. I would ask you that if one of the 7 members of the PNC has not provided the facts, then maybe what you hear are hopes, dreams, anxieties, or even fears bubbling up to the surface. We, as the PNC, have always tried to provide you with as accurate and as timely of information as the search process permits. We will continue to do so, you have our promise!

The second thing I will ask of you is for some more time. We understand this is a lot to ask; PNC gets that. It’s been a long process, and we understand that better than you think. We are so excited with our candidates! If we could share all the information about them, we would shout it from the church steeple, but we can’t. We are working within the Presbytery’s and PC’s guidelines and procedures. You have been so patient with us so once again, we are asking you to dig deep and hang in there a while longer.

FPC is wonderful. Committees have been meeting, end of summer & fall events have already been planned out, FPC is moving in a wonderful direction! It’s all because of you... And I can assure you that the day PNC brings the prospective new pastor to you, it will be someone who will take our hands and walk with us over smooth pathways or bumps in the road, into an amazing future. Just hang in there a while longer. Believe in yourselves, believe in God. He’s got us in the palm of his hands.

Thank you,

The PNC Committee
